Secret Service Investigates Potential Threat

(WASHINGTON) –Early this morning, Special Agents from the Secret Service Washington Field Office and officers from the Metropolitan Police Department investigated a report of a potential threat against Secret Service protectees. The Secret Service received information from a concerned citizen and Trump International Hotel Security staff. An individual was subsequently located at the Trump International Hotel in Washington, D.C. Agents and officers recovered a semi-automatic assault style rifle and a handgun in the individual's vehicle. Bryan Moles of Pennsylvania was arrested by MPD officers for illegal possession of the firearms.

At no time were any Secret Service protectees at risk. "The Secret Service greatly appreciates its strong partnership with the Metropolitan Police Department, the Pennsylvania State Police, and all of our law enforcement partners. This investigation is still new and ongoing," said Special Agent in Charge Brian Ebert, Secret Service Washington Field Office.
